ICAK-Fr Meeting

Paris, 26 - 27 November 2011

26th -27th November - Chiropractic Lecture on Low Back, Sacro-Iliac pain and Sciatica evaluation

SEMINAR OUTLINE

THE SEMINARE IS AN INTENSIVE ONE-WEEKEND COURSE IN THE EVALUATION AND TREATMENT OF THE LOW BACK AND PELVIS.

Part One: LOW BACK DIAGNOSIS

1. Specific diagnostic testing procedures for the evaluation of low back pain due to the lumbar disc, stenosis, vertebrogenic and the hidden cervical disc.
2. Local muscle testing combined with changes in truncal positioning will enable the physician to make accurate diagnoses as to the origin of the pain.
3. Adjunctive diagnostic procedures are taught where tuning fork (vibrational) stimulus and contralateral extensor muscle weakness patterns are used to further enhance the diagnostic workup.

Part two: TREATMENT

1. A 5 to 6 step treatment protocol will be discussed for the lumbar disc that prepares and allows the lumbar spine to be manipulated at the discal area without fear of adverse side-effects.
2. Sacro-Occipital blocking, together with Jugular Compression and a pelvic pumping to release dural tension as the first treatment step.
3. Pelvic musculature is tested for weakness patterns following the blocking and the cervical, cervical dorsal and finally lumbar spines are evaluated and treated accordingly.
4. Alternative 'interlink' treatment options are shown for substitution of direct manipulation.

Part three: INFLAMMATORY CONDITIONS OF THE DISC, NEURAL SHEATH AND SI JOINTS

1. Diagnosis and treatment options for the hidden cervical disc causing low back and leg pain.
2. Diagnosis techniques for disc inflammatory conditions not responding to manipulative care.
3. Diagnosis of the inflamed neural sheath.
4. Differential diagnosis between SI joint mechanical strain as opposed to reflex SI joint inflammation.

Part four: THE PIRIFORMIS SYNDROME AND COCCYX PAIN PATTERNS.

1. A diagnostic workup and treatment protocol for piriformis syndrome will be discussed.
2. Diagnosis and treatment options for coccydynia using vibration stimulus and ligament interlink.

The weekend will include several workshop sessions and a re-evaluation of specific muscle testing procedures, the use of vibrational stimulus and medical magnets for evaluation and treatment protocols.
